

The Regina Zoning Bylaw No. 9250 provides regulations for the number and location of off-street residential parking. Vehicles parked on a residential property are allowed in an approved parking space or on a legal driveway which leads to an approved parking space.

Approved parking spaces include:

- An attached garage with access from the front yard;
- A detached garage, a carport or a parking pad located in the side or rear yard, with access from the front yard;
- A parking area in the front yard when there is no alley access and insufficient room to provide vehicle access from the front yard to the rear or side yard.
- Additional front yard parking spaces may be permitted, to a maximum of two stalls, subject to the review and approval by the Development Service Department.
